The Breath of Life.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal if its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chief study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. O. A. Stevens, of Port Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Guaranteed by Red Cross Pharmacy. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Teaching a Girl to Run an Automobile.

Secure a good, easy-going machine with an active and up-to-date spark, and having placed the girl firmly by your side, where you can secure a strong hold in cases of emergency, proceed to a lonely, unfrequented road, where you will be uninterrupted.

If the girl displays any signs of nervousness, do your best to soothe her. There are a number of ways to do this. Take her hand in yours and pat it gently. Speak to her in a low, soft tone. If absolutely necessary place her head upon your shoulder and count one hundred. If not effective repeat in one minute.

Now she may take the wheel, advance the spark and throw in the clutch. It will then be your turn to grow nervous, while the girl is clutching the machine you clutch the girl. It will then be time to rest. This should not take any longer than the rest of the afternoon.

By the time you have got so you can kiss the girl without getting nervous she ought to be able to run the machine. -October Delinquent.

MORMON PRESIDENT IN STATE.

Party of Church Dignitaries Pay Visit to South Royalton.

South Royalton, Sept. 25.—The Joseph Smith memorial cottage has recently been furnished in good taste. The handsome art squares were made to order to match the fine paper hanging which came from Germany. The furniture is also in harmony with the other furnishings. Near the handsome fireplace, in which is the hearthstone, the only original thing which was preserved from the home of Joseph Smith, the founder of the Church, hangs three paintings, two of Joseph Smith in handsome plain gilt frames and, between these one much larger painting of his mother.

The work was finely executed by a young artist in Salt Lake City.

The dining room is beautifully finished with a German frieze and dark green linen panels. There are China shelves finished in cherry. The art rug shades and lace curtains are in keeping with the other furnishings. In the windows above the broad verandas boxes of flowers are suspended. The grounds are large and in excellent taste. There is a large artificial pond at the lower end of the lawn which slopes down from the elevation where the monument stands.

J. F. Willis went to New York Tuesday night to meet a party of six Mormons here who came from Salt Lake City, Utah. The party was composed of President Joseph F. Smith, head of the church of the Latter Day Saints, accompanied by Mrs. Smith, his private secretary, Mr. and Mrs. Nibey and their two daughters, the daughters having just returned from a European tour and will return to Salt Lake City with the party.

An informal reception was tendered the townspeople Thursday afternoon at Memorial cottage to meet the visitors which was very pleasant.

SCENE IN ACTUAL

Under Southern Skies.

The consistent approval expressed by the press of the country and the general public, during the past five years, relative to the dramatic worth and charm of Lottie Blair Parker's "Under Southern Skies," certainly entitles the drama to be regarded as the "great American play." Tonight at the opera house.

"Human Hearts."

The theatrical manager of a decade ago used to believe that when a play had been established in public favor, that any kind of a cast could be employed to exploit it before the public, and for that reason and no other, can a great many of them ascribe their ultimate failure. Not so with W. E. Nankerville, manager of "Human Hearts," which comes to us on Wednesday evening, Sept. 26. Mr. Nankerville has always maintained that the best is none too good for the public, and if by any possible chance he can better his company, he never fails to do so. It is to this policy he ascribes the wonderful success of "Human Hearts" with the theatre going public. Tickets Tuesday morning.

PITH AND POINT.

It is nature for a woman to love a man more than she should. It is the easiest thing in the world to hurt the feelings of any one who is getting too thin or too fat.

Every boy who brings a stray dog home with him tells of its fine pedigree and how hard it was to get it.

A man saves up money for a rainy day, and the doctor gets it later for performing a surgical operation on him, and it isn't an umbrella he cuts out either.

Respectable people when they learn they are annoying their neighbors are humiliated and regret it. But others become angry and want to be annoying as possible.—Acheson Globe.

Developed the Jury.

A little girl whose father was a photographer was taken for the first time to a courtroom while a case was being tried. On returning home she was asked concerning what she had seen and heard. Her description of the judge's charge was this: "The judge made a long speech to the jury of twelve men and then he sent them into a dark room to develop."—Philadelphia Ledger.

VERMONT S. S. CONVENTION.

Will Be Held at Randolph, October 16 and 18.

The 35th annual convention of the Vermont Sunday school association is to be held in Randolph, October 16-18. The first session will be on Tuesday evening, the 16th, and the convention will close Thursday evening, October 18th. Experts of national fame will be present. Prof. Edward P. St. John of the Hartford school of religious pedagogy will give four lectures on child study; Mr. W. G. Pearce of Chicago, the international teacher training convention and give four addresses besides taking the conference; Rev. Dr. Pickles, the educational secretary of the Massachusetts Sunday school association, will deliver an address on the essentials of Bible school teaching; Rev. P. L. Frick of Chelsea, Mass., will deliver an address upon the two-fold mission of the Sunday school. This is to be a practical convention of methods. Conferences relating to the real problems of Sunday school work will be conducted by experts along the several lines.

Some of the best talent in Vermont is engaged for this convention. This should prove an attraction to all lovers of Sunday school work in the state.

TO REDUCE BRAIN OF NEWARK BAD BOY

Operation Soon in Hope of Reforming Lad Who Can Be Good for an Hour Only.

New York, Sept. 25.—Carl Fredericks, 9 years old and incorrigible, whose brain is to be operated upon in the hope of reforming him, will be committed to the Rahway Reformatory on Thursday, where scientists will have the lad under constant observation prior to the operation. The doctors say the brain's size must be reduced.

Tests made Sunday showed that the boy has no sense of right or wrong. The skull coming almost to a point. The ears are mal but protruding, and the eyes are as sharp as a ferret's.

A strange feature of the boy's behavior is that at times it is good, but never for more than an hour. His offenses, usually thefts, appear to Carl to be nothing wrong, as he has frequently robbed his parents, once making a most desperate attack upon his mother when detected by her.

How He Bought His Farm.

A few years ago a German carpenter was visited by a land agent, and induced to buy four lots in an outlying borough on the installment plan, the terms being at the rate of $5 per month, the price of each lot $50, and the total cost $200. One Sunday afternoon he went to look at his purchase, and was informed that the outlook for a rise in value seemed propitious, as a syndicate had bought a large tract of land in the neighborhood with the intention of laying out a race track. He found that one section of the tract adjoined his $50 lots. A few days later the syndicate's representatives came to him with a proposition to buy. During the conversation it developed that it was necessary to have the lots for opening a street for an entrance to the track. See-sawing between the two men kept up, the syndicate's anxiety to possess those lots increased every hour, and still the carpenter was unpersuaded. A week or so later the agent called again. He submitted his ultimatum—$2,000 cash. The offer was accepted. The carpenter was in $4,800, more money than he had ever hoped to get together in a lifetime, so he left the city and bought a farm in Massachusetts.—New York Evening Post.

Grandson of Famous Statesman Is Now a Bank Clerk.

On the payroll of the Night and Day bank of New York is a young man who bears a name once on every tongue. He is James G. Blaine 3d, grandson of the famous Maine statesman who ran for president against Grover Cleveland in 1884. Young Blaine started work in the bank on Sept. 16 on a salary of $6 per week. He is a bright and promising fellow, and those who know him detect strong resemblances between him and his noted grandfather, who so narrowly missed the presidency. His mother is Mrs. William Tillinghast Bull of New York and Newport. She was Miss Marie Nevins, an actress and daughter of Colonel Richard Nevins of Ohio. Her marriage with James G. Blaine, Jr., proved unfortunate, and she secured a divorce from him, some years later marrying the distinguished New York surgeon, Dr. William T. Bull. Mr. Blaine also married again, his second wife being Miss Martha Tillinghast, daughter of Rear Admiral Philip Tillinghast. She did not get on well with Mr. Blaine either and took up her residence in South Dakota a few months ago with the view. It was said, of obtaining a divorce. James G. Blaine 3d did well in his studies while at school and is fond of sports, being noted as a tennis player.
